

Clinical Physiologist (Neurophysiology)

Make that fresh career choice and join us at Capital and Coast District Health Board in Wellington, New Zealand!

Wellington is New Zealand's capital city, a cultural and cosmopolitan epicentre renowned for its vibrant cafés, restaurants, international sporting and cultural events set in a beautiful natural harbour. With easy access to vineyards in the Wairarapa and beaches on the Kapiti Coast, there's plenty of opportunity for adventure or simply to relax and unwind.

Capital and Coast District Health Board is currently enhancing the delivery of its Neurophysiology services at Wellington Hospital and is seeking full time technologist to perform diagnostic tests and/or monitoring on any patients referred to the neurophysiology including both adult and paediatrics.

Applicants must have a minimum qualification of a degree in clinical Physiology (neurology), a recognised professional qualification in Neurophysiology and at least 6 months post qualifying practical experience.

Candidates will be contacted by us if they are successfully shortlisted. Referees will only be contacted with candidates' permission during the selection process. Unsuccessful applicants will be notified by email if they were not successful for an interview.

All candidates applying for any of our current vacancies must complete an online CCDHB application form by clicking the 'Apply Now' button (applications for positions will not be accepted unless accompanied by one).

Applications close on the 18th June 2017. Please submit your CV and cover letter in Word or PDF format. For further information on this role, please email Recruitment@ccdhb.org.nz and please indicate vacancy number and job title in the subject line.
